BRINGING YOU BRIDES

SHELEENA DAWOOD

The founder of floral-design and event-styling company Bloom Studio created the stunning tablescapes that inspired Pick and Mix (page 42). She says: 'I love juxtaposing contemporary design with the undone beauty of Mother Nature. Ultimately, flowers make people happy - and who doesn't want more of that on their wedding day?'

LAUREN HEPBURN

Our newly promoted online & social media manager has worked in print and digital at Brides. While probably best known as the unofficial model in our Wedding Dress Wednesday Insta series, she's always working behind the scenes on all things digital. She says: 'My favourite part of the job is being editor of Real Weddings Online. It's great to work on content that's so full of joy!'

MICHAEL THOMSON

Our acting art director this issue has worked at Brides for four years, working his magic across both our editorial and Creative Partnerships content. He says: 'Brides is a dream to design because every page is full of gorgeous ideas, beautiful images and total wedding inspiration. It has been a wonderful eight weeks pulling this issue together.'

Big day Lookbook

FIVE PAGES OF ITALIAN INSPO

Could there be a more elegant place to host your day than a 19th-century Italian villa?

This beautifully romantic shoot, styled by luxury wedding planners Mitheo Events, took place at the historic Villa Erba on the shores of Lake Como - the dreamiest setting for a fairytale celebration with its magnificent halls and sweeping gardens. Florals by Il Fiore all'Occhiello in a rich palette of berry hues set the opulent tone, complemented by striking tablescapes full of bespoke stationery, cascading foliage and flickering candles. And for the bride? A decadently glamorous wardrobe of designer gowns and luxurious lingerie, with pretty appliqués, twinkling crystals and vertiginous heels. La Dolce Vita never looked so good...
